PARENTS LEARN ABOUT HIGHSCHOOL

In Conference With Superintendent and Staff Wednesday Night—Prof. Harvey Talks on Continuation of the School.

There parents and members of the Chamber of Commerce who attended the conference at the high school Wednesday night have today a far better conception of what the high school can do for the boys and girls of this city than they did a week or even twenty-four hours before the meeting. If they have not, then the meeting failed in its purpose, for it was to accomplish this result that Superintendent Myron J. Michael called the meeting and invited the public at large, but especially the parents of the eighth grade pupils and members of the Chamber of Commerce. Inasmuch as the meeting was also held on the night of the High School Parent-Teachers' Association meeting, there were also a good number of its members present.

In stating the purpose of the meeting Superintendent Michael said that for some time there had been rumors to the effect that parents were not interested in the high school during school hours, and he wished to dispel such a notion. He said that he felt that a personal touch between parents and teachers was an important element in the youth's high school work. Teachers do not always know the plans parents have made for the future of children, nor do parents know what the high school has to offer their boys and girls. The high school staff, said the superintendent, counts the heartiest co-operation between principal, teachers and parents in planning the work of the children. Parents should be free to confer with teachers in any part of the city school system, and the superintendent assured the parents of a courteous reception.

In speaking of the High School Parent-Teachers' Association, Prof. Michael said that too many men had the idea that it is an association of mothers. He spoke of the good that can be accomplished through this organization and also touched upon the state convention which is to be held here this year.

Again speaking of high school work, Supt. Michael said that the crowded thinking among some high school students was surprising. On a recent examination paper this week it was required that the student name one or two reforms that had taken place in this country within the past five or ten years. One student named "the death of Theodore Roosevelt."

Mr. Michael said that such thinking was due to the lack of that kind of study which every high school pupil should pursue. A perusal of the daily papers and reading magazines, if students said he, find they have no time for this study they should take a little longer to get through high school. This study, he said, was one good way to cultivate good citizenship.

Robert J. Service, of the vocational department, was then presented by the superintendent. Mr. Service briefly explained the "workings" of his department.

Many parents, said Mr. Service, have an idea that a high school course is only to prepare for college. While it is best for every boy and girl to aim for a college education, yet Mr. Service pointed out that there are other courses in high school especially adapted for those who find it impossible to go to college. Boys are taught mechanical drawing, the use of hand tools, machinery and cement work. During the course of their study they are sent out to shops to become acquainted with the work and returning to the school endeavor to run their shops as others are run. What this vocational training, which is leaving high school without graduating are fitted for a trade. Mr. Service pointed to the fact that because of the industrial course fewer boys are leaving high school.

ST. STEPHEN'S TO HAVE BIG "GYM"

Plans For Addition to Annandale College Call For Expenditure of $50,000—Other College News.

Plans are rapidly being drawn for the construction of a $50,000 gymnasium at St. Stephen's College at Annandale. This will be the largest building in 1879. The hauling of materials for the new structure will commence as soon as traffic is eased up in the spring. The cornerstone will be laid at commencement on June 18th and the building will be ready for use at the opening of the session September, 1920.

The new building will be a combination club house and gymnasium. The gymnasium floor will be 60x80 feet and two stories high. There will be locker rooms for 250 men, there will be two bowling alleys, billiard and pool room and a theatre for both theatricals and moving picture performances. The building which will be erected to the east of ledge on which most of the present buildings are located and will not be visible from the road. It will be built of brick inside and out, faced with white stone and with a slate roof. All the latest features of the gymnasium construction will be brought into the building. The plans are being drawn by Messrs. Hoppin & Koen who are official architects of the City of New York and who built all of the buildings of the Hammarsey estate and the Zabriskie estate in Annandale. Messrs. Hoppin & Koen will be directly in charge of the general construction. This building marks the beginning of an enlargement of facilities at St. Stephen's which will involve the building within the next three years of a new classroom and laboratory building to cost $200,000 of two new dormitories at $200,000 apiece and also a reconstruction of several of the older buildings.

The special preacher on January 25th will be Rev. Lawrence Cole, Ph. D., president of Trinity School, New York city, and former president of St. Stephen's College. Neighbors, regardless of church affiliation are cordially invited.

The usual Wednesday organ recital will be at 5:30 instead of 4:30 as was stated last week.

For County Probation Work.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Jan. 21. (Special).—Senator Walton has introduced a bill amending the Criminal Code by providing for the appointment by county judges of one or more salaried county probation officers in each county. The bill also makes numerous provisions relative to probation.

Principal Lewis also spoke, rounding out the discussion and making suggestions to the talks given by the three teachers. He put special emphasis on the fact that a boy or girl should make some definite plan as to his or her future at entering high school. It is not too soon, said he. Those who intend going to college must have some idea what they are going to take up and what college they intend to enter. This is necessary in order to prepare for subjects required for entrance in college. He also spoke on "home work," advising the parents to see that their children do their home work. It is necessary for every student in the high school to do some work at home.

The part time or continuation school law which goes into effect next September was discussed by Prof. Furney, of the state department. "The safety of democracy," said he, "depends upon the effectiveness of the public school system in preparing children for citizenship."

He gave these startling figures concerning conditions in Kingston: In this city there are 436 boys between the ages 16 and 18 at work. Of this number 66 per cent are native born, with native born parents. Of the 436, 2 per cent left school at 13; 26 per cent at 14; 26 per cent at 15; 1 per cent at 16; 32 per cent left at 17 and under. According to the grades 13 per cent left at the 8th grade, 13 per cent at the 9th, 27 per cent at the 10th, 30 per cent at the 11th, 9 per cent at first year in high school, 1 per cent at the second year, 2 per cent at third, and 2 per cent at the fourth year.

The law provides that all children between the ages of 14 and 18 who are regularly employed or not in school must attend continuation school for not less than 8 to 10 hours a week. The continuation school courses of study will include half time in industrial work and American history, civics, economics, English, arithmetic, hygiene, physical training. In fact all subjects which will train the boy or girl to be a better citizen. The teacher and employer will cooperate in this effort. The school will be conducted on an ordinary school day between the hours of 8 a. m. and 3 p. m. The state will pay two-thirds of the salary of the first teacher assigned for this work and half the salary of all other teachers up to $1,000.

EVANS BALKS AT OUSTER PROCEDURE OF HIS COMMITTEE

Democrat From Bronx On Judiciary Committee Says Trial of Socialists Is All Wrong—Other Members Solidly Pursuing Course.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 22.—The judiciary committee of the New York state assembly which is considering the unseating of five Socialist assemblymen, produced one friend for the Socialists this morning. This is William E. Evans, a Democratic member from the Bronx.

Before the taking of testimony against the Socialists began this morning, Evans handed to Chairman Martin a lengthy statement in which he said he dissented from the rulings of Martin against the discontinuance of the proceedings. The incident was quiet and did not come to light until a correspondent noted the passage of the paper. Chairman Martin said simply, "I will consent that this be entered on the minutes."

Evans, speaking to a reporter, said: "I'm not trying to raise a row here, but I think these proceedings are all wrong and that we are going too far in trying these men on the charges that have been brought up here. My statement speaks for itself. I don't believe we are within our rights in doing what is now under way. I couldn't get any of the other members of the committee to feel as I do, however."

The attorneys at the Socialists table and the five Socialist members did not know of Evans' protest until the noon recess was taken. They expressed delight at Evans' attitude. Assemblyman Evans' statement follows:

"On the first day of this proceeding counsel for the five Socialist assemblymen moved that this committee report to the assembly that this proceeding be dismissed because there was neither constitutional or statutory authority for it. The chair denied the motion.

"The reasoning of counsel for the Socialists on this proposition is legally sound. I desire to be recorded as dissenting from that ruling, upon the ground that the assembly has no constitutional or statutory power to suspend or expel a duly elected member upon any other ground other than that specified in the constitution or statute, namely, disqualification of citizenship, age, residence, or within 100 days previous to their elections, membership in congress, the civil or military service of the United States, or for being an officer under any city government within that period of 100 days prior to their election. I go further than counsel for the Socialists and I believe that no other ground exists in law; not even previous conviction for crime. If it does not involve loss of citizenship, nor infamy, or mental, moral or physical conditions.

"Disloyalty to the state and nation or advocacy of force to overthrow the government may or may not be amenable to the criminal law but whether amenable to the criminal law or not, it is not a disqualification, under the state constitution for membership in the assembly, for such disloyalty and advocacy of force to overthrow the government, the duty and power to disqualify from elective office rests with the people, and not with the assembly.

"If those five Socialist assemblymen are disloyal traitors, spies or enemies, the responsibility for their presence here is the people's not the assembly's. The duty and power to disqualify them on those grounds is the people's and not ours. For the people never delegated such a power to the assembly.

"I deem the principles of the most vital importance to the existence and survival of representative government. The gravity of the charges against the five Socialist assemblymen must not be allowed to overshadow these principles.

"The constitutionality of the five men under investigation elected them with full knowledge of the present charges against them. In my belief, I know that to be the fact in at least two instances, that of Mr. Orr and Mr. DeWitt. I have personally charged them with this precise disloyalty before their constituencies, during the past two years. Mr. Pettie and Mr. Mallen, former members of this house, likewise accused them before their constituencies. Yet they have been returned to us and we must, in law, seat them.

"To maintain our form of government we must vote absolutely on the electorate to send to the assembly men who from our viewpoint are loyal and clean, and we must hope that the majority of the electorate will never fall in that respect. If in that respect, the majority of the electorate ever fall, then our government must fall; there is no other alternative.

"The American electorate the great majority never yet has failed in that respect. It is my belief and I believe that they never will. In that belief I vote for the continuation of the present proceedings. I do not believe that the nation has the right power to suspend or expel a duly elected member of the assembly on any other ground than that specified in the constitution or statute. I believe that the people have the right to elect and to re-elect whom they please, and I believe that the people have the right to elect and to re-elect whom they please, and I believe that the people have the right to elect and to re-elect whom they please."

ONE-PIECE EFFECT

New Blouse Fitted Around Hips,
Colors Matching Skirt.

Recently Designed Model Fills Long-
Felt Need in Discriminating
Woman's Wardrobe.

Overblouses are growing in favor and designers have brought out new models that have some distinction and individuality to them. The old flared type of blouse was not very popular and the later model with straight panel down the front had the appearance of a negligee. The newer overblouses are fitted around the hips and may be obtained in colors matching the skirt of the suit, thus giving the effect of a one-piece dress.

The buyer in the blouse department of a large mid-Western store has designed a blouse of this type that is particularly attractive. It is tight-fitting through the shoulders and has a panel that is fastened straight across the chest in front and slopes off to the waistline. At the hips it is finished with a narrow fringe that covers the break between the blouse and skirt. The style is most becoming to stout women particularly.

The overblouse seemed to fill a long-felt need in the discriminating woman's wardrobe. While the regulation blouse has been a thing of beauty in the last five years, it was kept from being a joy forever simply because of the fact that when worn with a skirt it did not look like a complete costume. Therefore, the overblouse was hailed with delight, since it gave becoming lines to the wearer and preserved the appearance of a dress as well. But even the long overblouse did not retain its popularity for a long time, for it hid the top of the skirt.

The obvious solution to the problem is the short, loose overblouse that reaches only to the hip or above it. The New York manufacturer of waists is showing a number of the hip-length overblouses, designed by his wife. One of these is made of beige georgette, cut in one-piece, but very fashion, says Daily Garment News.

The V-neck and short sleeves are edged with narrow shaded ombre ribbon that ties in a bow at the bottom buttoned back.

The front of the blouse is decorated with a large spreading sunburst design embroidered in cut steel and jet beads. Tiny loops and buttons adorn the small slits at the sides of the waist.

BLOUSE OF WHITE CHIFFON

This is a charming blouse of white chiffon with fringe and white silk braid. It is designed with a "V" neck and tight-fitting cuffs.

West African Superstition.

In West Africa it is not unusual to see a native crouched over a stream talking to the "Spirit of the Water," and in that country, too, the traveler is unwise who looks behind him at any sudden sound, for he will probably behold a native with the Fangare charm, and will see him beat with a bamboo hammer upon a tiny drum held above a live animal. As the traveler looks around the charm is struck, and it is the belief of the natives that whatever part of the animal is injured, the human victim will suffer in the same region.

Growth of Cremation Idea.

Available statistics compiled less than a decade ago show that in the United States the total number of cremations had risen to over 20,000 distributed among 35 crematories. The growth of cremation has been very rapid on the Pacific coast. In 1913 a contract was let by the government for the erection of a crematory in the Canal zone.

Happiness in Serenity.

The thing for us all to do is to be serene and happy, no matter whether we are four and twenty or three and ten. To take disappointment philosophically, as something that can't be cured and therefore to be endured. To be kind and gentle and generous and forgiving—if we will resolve upon all that, something more than youth will be ours.—Exchange.

You need this protection to keep your body warm. Keeping your feet warm accelerates the boiling up heat which the body generates. The most effective this is done the more comfortable you are on a cold day.

An unheated heating pipe is no different than the human body. Unless it is protected against the cold—the heat which it should contain to deliver comfort in your home or building is chilled. Cold roots are the result.

Kingston Pipe Covering is cheaper than coal and lasts indefinitely.

C. W. Van Slyke & Horton, Kingston, N. Y.INCOME TAX AND FAMILY HEADS

Unmarried men and women who are bread-winners for others are granted special exemptions on their earnings before paying the Federal Income Tax now being collected. Although a return must be filed by every unmarried person, and by every married person living apart from wife or husband, who had a net income of $1,000 or more during 1919, recognition is made in the law of the home burdens carried by millions of such persons, and relief from excessive taxation is especially provided.

In addition to the ordinary personal exemption of $1,000, an additional exemption of $1,000, is granted to "heads of families," and there is also provided an exemption of $200, for each dependent under 18 years of age or who is mentally or physically defective.

The $200 for each dependent may be claimed by any taxpayer who is the chief support of such dependent. This is not confined to dependents who are members of the family or relatives. On the other hand it does not include servants or others who are earning their living. And it does not apply to the wife or husband of the married taxpayer, even though such person may have become a total burden.

It should be remembered that the person who claims exemption as "head of a family" must qualify for it. Two single persons who divide between them more or less equally, the financial and other responsibilities of a household cannot claim that either one is head of the family. But if a single person actually assumes the total responsibilities of the household and is aided by having one of his brothers or sisters support himself and contributing an amount that could not practically be considered more than his board, such trivial circumstances must not be allowed to interfere with his claim for exemption. A single person is the head of a family if by December 31st he had become the sole support of close relatives (by blood, marriage, or adoption) living in the same house with him and looked upon by them to exercise a greater or less amount of control in the matters affecting the support and maintenance of the household. The phrase "sole support" is here used in the sense that there is no other person to whom the dependents are looking for a substantial portion of their support. There may be another source of income (such as interest on bonds, dividends on stocks, pension) which, if meagre enough to still leave the recipient dependent, should not interfere with the claim for exemption. Such meagre income of dependents, as well as the inconsequential profit on the board of any self-supporting member of the household, must however be included in the return of the head of the household.

But a division of responsibility will in every case exclude the parties from the claim for the additional exemption. Article 302 of Regulation 45 defines that a head of a family is "a person who actually supports and maintains in one household or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation."

Once the existence of the fact that a taxpayer is the principal cause of the creation or maintenance of a household is established it cannot be destroyed by his mere temporary or unavoidable absence from it. If a father is left with a young child to whom he cannot give the proper attention himself, and he places this child with relatives or elsewhere, he should still be considered the head of a family even if yet further force of circumstances would oblige him to live elsewhere; provided that he still exercises fatherly control over the well-being, education, and moral feelings of the child, and did not (while furnishing the support) allow the child to become a virtual orphan. If, however, without necessity the dependent continuously makes his home elsewhere, his benefactor is not the head of a family. Irrespective of the question of support.

Fighting the Prairie Dog

[Prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.]

A large, dark, textured mound, possibly a pile of debris or a large rock formation, dominating the center of the page. The mound has a rough, irregular surface with many small, light-colored spots and indentations. It is set against a plain, light background. The top of the mound is slightly flattened, and it tapers towards the base. The overall appearance is that of a natural or man-made pile of material.

Ho of Prairie Dogs. Evidence of Work by Representatives of the State
Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Prairie dogs account more than 100,000,000 acres of public and private land wherever they occur in abundance; they are exceedingly destructive to cultivated crops and to forage on the open range. In cooperation with the Extension Service, the agricultural colleges in Arizona, Colorado, Montana, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming campaign against these animals has been pushed aggressively by the biology service, which recently issued its annual report from which the following facts appear:

In Arizona and New Mexico the state councils of defense joined with the work and contributed funds for the purpose. The participation of farmers and stockmen has been fuller than ever before, and the savings on crops and forage has been correspondingly great. During the year from 1916 to 1917 95 per cent of the prairie dogs were destroyed on nearly 200,000 acres of privately owned crop and forage lands and on more than 200,000 acres of public domain, the latter making more than 3,700,000 acres of public land which have been largely freed from these pests. In many places prices have been so lowered that they volunteered their services to a government lands, the bureau supplying the poison to be used in adjacent government lands. With co-operation of this character it will be possible to clear the pests of the public domain at almost a nominal cost to the government.

More and more it is realized that the Bible is the only book in the world which can be applied to all classes, all conditions and all times. Written and compiled thousands of years ago, when the world was in its infancy and when humanity was groping its way out of the darkness into the light, it was wonderful things. Its inspirings were as its uplifting spiritualities. It made it as valuable an agent of civilization and as powerful a factor in the uplift of humanity as ever it was. In fact, the Bible is found to be the best known guide for social progress, for political construction and for individual peace. Its usefulness does not

Paraffin Good Cleaner Aid to Housekeeper

Parasol is very useful, and does wonders for the housekeeper, though many people look upon it as a greasy liquid cloth for cleaning purposes. A straw mat moistened with it and used on the furniture in regular dustings will brighten the wood. Many insects are easily killed by it around the house. It is also very effective in killing also the desirable or the undesirable insects. A straw does not make quite such a litter, as it becomes damp too quickly, and it is not so easily soiled as other hay does not.

When you put a little lime into the water in which soiled clothes are soaked, and a little added to the suds will keep the lime from sticking. Paraffin is also good for cleaning greasy bottles, kettles, pans, etc. There is a certain amount of lime in the

ROTARY MAKES MEMBERS WORK

Instead of giving a half hour to one speaker, the Rotary Club at its dinner Wednesday evening had ten speakers, each being given three minutes. The result was very satisfactory and the variety of wit and wisdom disclosed was almost infinite. Although none of the "talent" had any notice until the programs were distributed during the dinner, every one promptly responded. The program was as follows:

We cut the objection to singing while you wait for more to eat.

Then comes the highest, as follows:

"Hello, People" Willis Hills

"Let Your Light So Shine" Rod Still

"Advantages of Having a Double" Ad. Parden

"Faith, Hope, Charity and Suspense in Exopus" Ed Hathaway

"Who Cune Over the Bridge" (Who Cune Over the Bridge.)

GOOD PROFIT IS FOUND IN KELP

Besides the Commercial Potash Many Valuable By-Products Are Turned Out.

EXPERIMENTS ARE SUCCESS

Plant Established by Government in California Demonstrates Profit Can Be Made With Production on Commercial Basis.

Washington.—Kelp, apparently, is going to be a profitable source of potash, an important fertilizer ingredient that the United States formerly obtained almost wholly from Germany. During the war an experimental kelp-potash plant was established by the United States department of agriculture at Summerland, Cal. Before the second year of operation was completed it had been determined not only that the plant could be made self-sustaining on the basis of potash alone, at $250 a unit, but that a number of valuable by-products could be profitably obtained. The chief of the bureau of soils, which bureau operates the enterprise, estimates that if the plant turns out $300 worth of potassium chloride a day, it may at the same time turn out $200 worth a day of the four principal by-products.

Many By-Products.

Among the by-products whose commercial obtainability has been established are iodine, common salt, ammonia, and bleaching carbon. This bleaching carbon, formerly imported from Europe and sold for 20 cents a pound, has been prepared and sold from the Summerland plant at 15 cents a pound and appears at present about able to pay the production cost of itself and the potash, with good reason to believe that it may ultimately be made to pay the operating cost of the entire enterprise. It has been definitely established by large-scale operations that very little of the nitrogen of kelp is lost in the various processes and that it can be commercially recovered as ammonia, thus yielding another important fertilizer element. In this process enough combustible gas is released greatly to reduce it not to eliminate fuel consumption in the plant. A tar is likewise recovered, and its subproducts, kelp oils and creosote, have been shown to be of value, respectively, as flotation agents and disinfectants. Still other valuable by-products are likely to be recovered.

"The field broadens tremendously as progress is made," reports the chief of the bureau of soils.

JOBLESS DRAIN GERMANY

Wast Sum of Money Already Paid Out to Unemployed—More Asked.

Berlin.—The German government at the end of December had spent in 1919 1,000,000,000 marks for support of the unemployed, according to the figures of the labor ministry. (The mark is worth 2.11 cents at present exchange rates.)

Another 1,000,000,000 marks will have been paid out before the arrival of the time specified for this support to cease. It is estimated.

It is planned, because of the huge amount expended in this way, to try to induce the unemployed to work on emergency labor. Undersecretary of State Moellendorf has demanded a fund of 5,000,000,000 marks to tackle the unemployment question.

The representative from Baden has announced that 100 textile workers there are leaving for the Ruhr district to become coal miners.

Submarine "Valley"

Found Off Mendocino

San Francisco.—The approximate location and shape of an uncharted submarine valley, which caused the wreck of the steamer Bear with the loss of five lives in 1916, has been reported by Captain Lakin of the surveying vessel Wesmash of the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The axis of the valley is given as about ten miles to the north and west of Cape Mendocino, Cal., and its head about five miles off shore.

The unknown presence of this formation is blamed for the wreck of the steamer Bear, whose captain was deced by soundings taken in its vicinity during a storm.

Two Birthdays on One Voyage.

San Francisco, Cal.—W. C. Summons, passenger aboard the steamer Archer, was in port from the Orient, celebrated his 50th birthday twice on the voyage from the far East. Summons' birthday fell on the day that the Archer approached the three hundred and sixtieth longitude. He was the recipient of many congratulations from passengers and crew. Then the steamer crossed the longitudinal line and the same day was repeated, giving Summons another birthday. The Archer, operated by the Pacific Mail Steamship company, carried a $200,000 cargo, including $25,000 in gold and $150,000 in tea.

Chinese Imperial Suite.

The exhibition in the Chinese pavilion at the World's Fair, an art of preservation and stilling the food, had been the ground while speaking the words which translated meant: "Black sea of Heaven."

Indians Just Quit Work.

Winnemucca, Nev.—When time was called the other morning on the irrigation being built on the new water under, all the Indians on the job quit work and walked north D. O. Clark of San Francisco, who has the contract, came along.

"What's the matter, why don't you fellows at work?" he asked. Then one of the Indians explained that they wanted 30 cents more a day. They had made no demands, but on a relative to the boss, was saying but let quit work and walked until they found the boss.

The job has to be ruled with a pocket square, and the old one got the title.

HERE'S PERFECT WOMAN

Venus has been reincarnated in the form of Miss Rosalind E. Smith of Los Angeles, Cal., according to Robert H. Mauzeck, head of a physical training school, who has made a profound study of the feminine physique.

Miss Smith attributes her perfect health and figure to nine hours' sleep, deep breathing, sleeping in the open air, light exercising and the foregoing of candy, cake and pastry.
